HAROLD NIELSON who are taking in the WORLD SERIES and who will pick up (just like that) a new CADILLAC for the trip home

TODAY, the A.W.V.S. will lunch at the FORT ORD OFFICERS CLUB. Regular monthly meeting. Incidentally the Carmel Work Center will donate 10% of its profits to the AWVS during the week of October 8..... FORT ORD had a MONTEREY COUNTY DAY last week. Representative citizens of neighboring cities saw the Basic Training and Leaders courses, visited the Soldiers Club and other recreational centers, watched tactical problems in the field being worked out, and saw a live ammunition demonstration. GENERAL McCLURE knows the value of the GOOD NEIGHBOR attitude..... The CY JOHNSONS now established in SF at the ST. ELIZABETH APTS. at Powell and Sacramento.....

The books and pamphlets were arranged and sponsored by the Carmel PTA and are of interest to thoughtful and perhaps BEWILDERED parents.....Get your SHOOTING IRON out and oil it up. Such is the word from Carmel's ED DUFFY who is Post Commander of the Monterey Post of the AMERICAN LEGION, because the 17 annual Legion Turkey Shoot is scheduled for this Sunday at Tarpey Flats, three miles east of Monterey on the Salinas Highway. There will be hundreds of Thanksgiving Turkeys as prizes. More than 5,000 people are expected to attend and Ed says there is plenty of parking space. Admission is free and for the kids there will be plenty of entertainment. Besides the turkeys, which won't be cooked when you get them, there will be plenty of other food. Money raised is used for Legion activities and community service.....Do you belong to the KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA Sorority? CARMEL WOMAN'S CLUB RUMMAGE SALE, OCT. 29

The vacation clothes that went to the resorts this summer but won't be in style next year; odd pieces of china that remained after the children did the dishes, and the bric-a-brac Aunt Mary gave you for your modern home, are wonderful materials for this sale. Contributions may be left Monday mornings at the club house or will be picked up by telephoning 7-3846 or 7-7736.

THE PICTURESQUE BARN THEATRE in Carmel Valley provides appropriate background for the forthcoming premiere of "Deguillo"--frontier play depicting such legendary heroes as Davy Crockett (portrayed by Jim McNeill above) and James Bowie of the fabulous Bowie knife fame. All out enthusiasm for this exciting production has prompted novel and new innovations to Peninsula theatre going, such as special theatre excursion buses to and from the Valley for an entire evening of theatre including dinner, reserved seats, and all the thrills that go into a first night. MUELLER REPORTS ON WORLD TOUR

A capacity audience attended the Carmel Woman's Club at its opening meeting last Monday to hear Merrill Mueller, NBC radio commentator, give a most interesting and up-to-the-minute report of his Round-the-World tour.

Introduced by Dr. Zoe

Johnston, program chairman, Mr. Mueller first reported on Korea, discussing the magnificent work of U.N. forces, declaring it was wise not to go farther north of the 38th parallel. Hence to Japan whose industries are booming, and to Formosa, where Chiang Kai-shek is staging a come-back.

STRING QUARTET ENTHUSIASTICALLY RECEIVED

The Paganini String Quartet favored its audience at the well-filled Sunset Auditorium last Tuesday with an evening of sometimes exciting, sometimes disturbing, but always quite delightful chamber music. The program included Haydn's Quartet in G Major, Muench's Sinfonietta from his String Quartet, Beethoven's Quartet in E Flat Major, and Ravel's Quartet in F Major.

The best rendition of serious music, and of quartet pieces in particular, is only possible when measure bars are disregarded, and the work is played as a continuous whole. The Paganini Quartet achieved a light, soaring quality in their playing of the Haydn number by doing just this. It was an auspicious opening to the evening's performance.

The Haydn quartet was followed by the Muench Sinfonietta. It was forcefully attacked, and the constricted harmonies and anxious musical protestations had the intended effect of tenseness and frustration--at least on this listener. Gerhardt Muench was in the audience and, upon the completion of the Sinfonietta, he was called by the audience to acknowledge the tremendous applause. He mounted to the stage, and the Paganinis and Mr. Muench congratulated each other to the satisfaction of the audience.

The group next played Beethoven whom they treated with just a bit too much reverence for the warmth of his work to reach the audience. Beethoven has an evenness of perfection that he relieves by emphasis and contrast. Some of this contrast could only be heard by listening expressly for it to the detriment of the whole.

After the intermission, the ensemble performed the Ravel work with grace and restraint. The whole tone scale is put to good use in this number which was played with an homogeneous softness of tone that gave it an ethereal quality and clarity that was a joy to hear.

It was a musically rich evening, and the audience showed its appreciation by giving the Paganini Quartet complete attention and generous applause.

Among them were Mr. and Mrs. George L. Coleman, Jr., Colonel and Mrs. Paul S. Winslow, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Crocker, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hunt.

Immediately following the golf finals, won by the sensational Ken Venturi of San Francisco, and after the ceremony that accompanies the presentation of trophies on the terrace of Del Monte Lodge, Mr. and Mrs. Morse gave a cocktail party for the directors of the California Golf Association and some of the players.

Colonel and Mrs. Paul S. Winslow gave a tea in honor of Mrs. Stanley Kennedy on Tuesday, Oct. 2.

Mr. Morgan, a lieutenant in the Navy, is at the Navy Line School in Monterey. The Morgans have leased a home on the Peninsula and will reside here indefinitely.

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Coleman, Jr., left their Pebble Beach home on Oct. 1 in their plane for Miami, Okla., where they have extensive ranching interests.

Ann and Sarah Coleman returned to Foxcroft School a few days ago, and little Dobbie Coleman is attending school at Pebble Beach.

MODERN SCHOOLING

"THIS BEATS CLASS ROOM SCHOOL" would undoubtedly be a proper caption for these pictures taken during the OUT-DOOR PROGRAM of Carmel Schools. Beginning Oct. 8, Sunset youngsters from Mrs. Rea's class will go to camp. The following Monday Mr. Blee's class will depart for their week during which the young people will see in their natural surroundings the birds and bees, wild life and big trees. While at camp the students do most all of the chores involved, sometimes including the cooking. In this way they learn to work together. Mrs. Herbert Blanks is chairman of the Camp committee and is assisted by Mr. Ernest Calley, Mrs. Marion Reid, Mrs. Howard Byrne, Mrs. Robert Jones, and others. The whole program is headed by James H. Blee of the Sunset School faculty.

VARIETY SHOW TALENT NEEDED

Talented civilians on the Peninsula who would like to contribute an act on Sunday evening are asked to dial 5-4155. BACK INTO THE SERVICE this week went Capt. Kenneth K. Jones of Carmel, assigned to 7th Armored Division at Camp Roberts. He is a veteran of the Ardennes and Bastogne campaigns, serving in the 41st Division. Since World War II he has resided with his mother, Mrs. William H. Jones, on Carmelo Street. (ARTHUR McEWEN Photograph)

NEPH WEEK OPENS OCT. 7

The skilled manpower shortage throughout the nation has given disabled veterans and other physically handicapped persons a more important place in the economic life of the nation and of the community, it was pointed out this week by Claude S. Estill in calling attention to the seventh annual observance of National Employment - Physically - Handicapped Week.

NEPH Week this year has been proclaimed for October 7-13, with special committees taking the lead on a national, state and local basis in bringing to the attention of employers the advantages of hiring handicapped workers for suitable jobs.

The ranks of the employable handicapped now include some veterans disabled by military service in Korea, Mr. Estill pointed out. Mr. Estill is a member of the committee which is sponsoring NEPH Week on the Monterey Peninsula.

EIGHT to the BAR

By ROSS WORSLEY

Anyone who tries to keep up with the current record releases as listener or reviewer soon becomes aware it is a futile goal. You reach for a gem, significant and beautifully presented, and you realize there are many, many such; it's frustrating.

The name Tiana Lemnitz is something to conjure with. A seasoned opera singer, recitalist and orchestral soloist, Madame Lemnitz has gained an amazing reputation and enormous following in this country by virtue of the recordings of her superb artistry issued by Urania. We have at long last a complete Meistersinger with Lemnitz singing Eva and a distinguished cast which keep this lengthy Wagnerian comedy-drama vital and arresting.

One 12-inch long-play disc termed "Tiana Lemnitz Sings Wagner" conveys the ethereal beauty and spirituality of her voice in the Five Wesendouck songs: "The Angel," "Stand Silently," "In the Conservatory," "Grief," and "Dreams." The challengingly beautiful "Hallen" aria from Tannhauser is sung to the Wagnerite's complete satisfaction on the flip side, which also includes the Lohengrin Love Duet with Franz Volker, whose helden tenor compliments admirably Madame Lemnitz' lyric talents.

Looking on the dark side of the list, a couple of reissues of opera performances by Columbia are disappointing. "Manon Lescaut" is noisy and thin. "L'Elisir d'Amore" (abridged) is unfortunate on two counts; neither the singers nor the engineering measures up to our present standards when so much glorious opera is being recorded. Better wait for fresh performances of these two.

Ethnic Folkways gathering folk-lore from all over the world has made an inestimable contribution to the student of human relations. All recordings are made on location by authorities in their fields. It makes available authentic musical and cultural data of many different parts of the world presented in dramatic form. To mention but a few of these, "Saudi-Arabia" folk music, Negro folk-music of Africa and America, Drums of Haiti, etc. The non-breakable plastic high fidelity recordings are taps in entertainment and educational values for the entire family.

POLICE CALL

By PARKER KIMBALL

Reported theft of woman's suit from local retail house, stating that such thefts following regular pattern: Two women come in together, say they are looking around, wait until other customers come in, then take whatever isn't chained down and leave. Usually take the coat hangers as well.

Complainant phoned at night wanting protection from younger brother stating latter had threatened to "knock him down." Police contacted younger brother, talked it over. It was decided that he wouldn't knock him down that morning.

and that complainant would be able to sleep peacefully rest of night.

Since first organized pistol practices began within CPD last month with ammunition supplied by new reloader bought by city, local boys have been making good and better. Under Chief Clyde Klaumann's instruction--he's grad of FBI Nat'l. Academy in Wash., D.C.--they've been laying 'em in on target with greatly increased effectiveness.

Woman called that ex-hubby had entered house through wood-box, dumped vacuum cleaner contents all over floor. While police were investigating, hubby phoned, "Dusty, ain't it?"

he asked, and hung up.

Complainant phoned someone had painted hammer and sickle on edge of road in front of garage. Police checked, found the design in red paint on the street. What's that old adage about "fools' names like fools' faces...?"

Contractor laying blacktop on Carmel street stymied by car parked and locked in path of equipment. CPD came to rescue, arranged to have car towed to other side of street. All officers carefully notified not to give this car ticket although parked on wrong side of street.

Complainant phoned police to say when she came home from town that night, door was open and either birds or bats in the house. Woman scared of bats, wanted police to chase out whichever it was. Police report ends, "Bird caught. Woman happy."

Drunk, disorderly, and resisting arrest, subject was brought to CPD where proceeded to scuffle with officers, use filthy language. Kept saying there was no freedom in this stinking country and he was going to Poland as soon as he could. Also that in couple of years everyone in this country would be getting the same pay and no one would be better than anyone else. Awful thought: under the new system everyone will be exactly like him?

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S

WHO IS IT?

It's a good thing for society that Albert M. Lester decided to become a businessman instead of a confidence man.

He is a highly persuasive speaker when launched upon a subject close to his heart.

Recently he has had unusual opportunity to exercise his powers before groups, often six or seven times weekly, as Peninsula chairman of the Community Chest Fund drive which started this week. And as he persuades you that it's a good idea both for yourself and the principal of good neighborliness to part with a part of your hard pressed pay check, you can tell that he has long ago persuaded himself of the same.

He and Mrs. Lester came to Carmel five years ago from San Francisco where he started in the canning business at the age of 14. This was with J. K. Ormsby Co., one of the original founding companies of Cal Pak, rising from the rank of office boy through its business department to vice president, a post he held for 27 years until his retirement.

With four children, all grown now, his interest in young people has kept strong through his association with the Boy Scouts. At one time he was instrumental in getting William Randolph Hearst to donate $20,000 for 137 acres of redwood land in the Big Sur to the organization. For this he was awarded the Silver Beaver, highest award given in local councils. During 25 continuous years of scouting activity he has been member of the Berkeley Council and Monterey Bay Area Council, a scout master, Peninsula district chairman, and member of the National Boy Scout Council. Other organizations to which he belongs are Masons, Elks, and Knight Templars. He is a trustee of the Carmel Public Library.

At the moment, of course, the Community Chest drive is taking most of his spare time. Of it he says:

"I think the Chest is one of the greatest doers of good that has been created in the past 50 years. It knows no sex, color, creed, no sect. In its care for the youth, for the poor, the sick, with its milk fund and baby care--to say nothing at all of the service to Armed Service through USO, its agencies follow the Master in 'going about doing good.'--I'm both proud and happy to be connected with an institution whose directors and workers are of the highest calibre people on the Peninsula."

Around home, his avocation now is gardening--rhododendrons, tuberous begonias in particular. While being interviewed, he glanced from the door of his study to see his wife picking flowers outside. "Hey, use the scissors!" he called.

"I'm going carefully," she replied. The Community Chest drive chairman shrugged and settled back to the questioning again, apparently decided that further persuasion was useless.

BARNES TO DIRECT FIRST THEATRE PRODUCTIONS

Forrest Barnes has been engaged by the Denny-Watrous Management to direct the next show at California's First Theatre, Monterey.

Rhea Diveley, who has directed at the First Theatre for the past two years, is leaving shortly for a long sea voyage. She will be missed by the entire Peninsula.

During Miss Diveley's absence producers Dene Denny and Hazel Watrous have secured the services of Mr. Barnes, who has an outstanding and impressive experience in the theatre world and has produced locally such plays as "The Corn is Green" and "Lysistrata."

Try-outs for the new show have been set for Wednesday night of next week, Oct. 10, and will be held in the First Theatre at eight o'clock. Any one interested in playing in the First Theatre is invited to attend and try out.

Forrest Barnes has chosen "Saintly Hypocrites and Honest Sinners," a play which has stood the test of time as a "sure fire" hit.

"Doubling in Brass," current production, directed by Rhea Diveley, which is receiving the usual enthusiastic reception both of Peninsulite fans and visitors, has gone into its winter schedule, and is running on Saturday nights only. It will close Nov. 10, the new show opening on Friday, Nov. 16.

JUSTICE RAY BAUGH
DELIGHTS CARMEL
LEGION POST

Carmel Legion Post 512 turned out its largest attendance in months to enjoy Ray

Baugh's delightfully humorous presentation of the character of his (alleged) Great, Great-plenty great, Great Grandfather Christopher Columbus, discoverer of America.

In costume, Baugh brought his talent for dialect and gesticulation to high pitch hilariously and seriously to link the Great Navigator's traits of intrepidity and self reliance to those of our traditional real American of that day and this.

THE SPIRITUAL BASIS OF PEACE will be the topic of a public lecture here next Thursday evening by Harry B. MacRae of Dallas, Texas, Christian Science lecturer.

Mr. MacRae will speak on invitation of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Carmel, in the church edifice, Monte Verde St. at 6th Ave., at 8 p.m. of Oct. 11. His topic will be "Christian Science, Bringer of Peace." The general public is invited to attend without charge.

Mr. MacRae became interested in Christian Science in 1913, while in his fourth year of a premedical course at the University of Cincinnati, through a healing of his father. He left a business career about 20 years ago to devote his full time to the practice of Christian Science healing. He has been a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship since 1947 and has traveled extensively in that capacity.
